IMPACTFUL CHANGE

MEET DR. KNOWLES

Dr. Jennifer Knowles learned about change first hand when she moved 8 times during her first 10 years of life. Long before change became a business buzzword, Knowles learned how to embrace new environments, meet new people, and navigate new situations before she could even spell her name.

Since that time, Dr. Knowles has become the go-to-expert for change as it relates to personal and professional development in business and beyond. She is a TedX speaker, 2x best-selling author, a business school professor, and consultant. She has been referred to as a Change Maker as her work has been featured in the WSJ, CBS This Morning, CNN HLN, Fox and Friends, Washington Post Magazine, NPR, and more.

Knowles lives in the Rocky Mountains with her husband, three sons, and dog who thinks he's a person. When she is not traveling internationally, teaching, or writing her next book, she can usually be found spending time outside or reading a good book while sipping lemonade.

The only constant in life is change. If we step into our strengths, find the power within us, we can then create impactful change.
